

Conventional and Organic Oat Products

Richardson Food & Ingredients is the world's largest oat miller. Our five oat processing mills in North America and the United Kingdom combine to offer a large variety of conventional and organic oat products. We exceed our customer's expectations through quality, service, value, and innovation.

Our whole grain flakes include large rolled oats, and quick or instant cooking oat flakes packaged in bags and super sacs. Whole oat flour, oat bran, steel cut, and whole oat groats are available in bags, super sacs, bulk trucks, or rail. Our products can be used in a range of products including hot and cold cereals, granola bars, cookies, breads, and beverages. All organic products are supplied by our mill in Barrhead, Alberta.

Richardson Food & Ingredients is a division of Richardson International, Canada's largest agribusiness. Richardson is involved in every aspect of the food and agriculture cycle. Our extensive grain networks enable us to source our raw material directly from the grower, which builds a strong connection from the farm to your table.
